Blazing the Trail

BEING THE FIRST

Yale OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

PO Box 208229
New Haven CT 06520-8229
T 203 432-2550

Dear 1stGenYale Team,

Congratulations on your inaugural conference, “Blazing the Trail: Being the First”! I am grateful for your continued efforts to engage alumni and strengthen our community. 1stGenYale plays a critical role in building a more unified Yale through facilitating alumni-to-alumni and alumni-to-student interactions.

As you know from your personal history and professional vantage point, access to education is key to social mobility. There are important benefits to educating students who are the first in their families to attend college. This is true not just for the students, but for universities—and for society.

I am proud that our community has long been committed to making a Yale education accessible and affordable to all qualified students. It is heartening that nearly 17 percent of the Class of 2021 are first-generation students. Yale has increased first-year enrollment among first-generation students and students receiving Pell-grants by more than 60 percent over the past five years. Our country and our world stand to benefit greatly from cultivating and supporting talented young people from every zip code, nation, and income level.

Thank you for your partnership in helping members of our community experience Yale as a place where they belong and ensuring that they will thrive during their time here and after graduation. When you share your stories, you are imparting invaluable wisdom and solidifying the bond that we share as Yalies. I look forward to 1stGenYale’s continued success for many more years to come.

With best wishes,

A handwritten signature in black ink, which appears to read "Peter Salovey". The signature is fluid and cursive, written over a white background.

President
Chris Argyris Professor of Psychology

Welcome

Dear Participants,

On behalf of 1stGenYale, an emerging AYA Shared Interest Group, we welcome you to our inaugural conference Blazing the Trail: Being the First. We are thrilled to have you join us!

At our conference, you will have the opportunity to meet and talk with fellow alumni, keynote speakers, faculty, current students, and sponsors. We hope that your new friendships will continue well after the conference is over. As trailblazers, our alumni and friends represent a broad array of backgrounds and come together to share experiences being among the first in our families and/or from underserved backgrounds to attend college or graduate school.

Our 1stGenYale programs connect alumni from all schools and career professions with students who share similar socio-economic backgrounds. We want to help them navigate and take advantage of all of Yale's resources, including our alumni. Since July 2016, 1stGenYale has connected over 600 alumni and students at different events held on campus.

Since we want to make a difference and support Yale students through emergencies that may arise, net proceeds from this conference will be donated to the Yale College Dean's Student Assistance Fund.

Thank you to all alumni members of our working group, alumni keynotes and panelists, faculty, AYA SIG staff, and you for being part of our inaugural conference. We look forward to your continued engagement with 1stGenYale.

Marta Moret '84 MPH
Reflections on Being First

WELCOME

Marta Elisa Moret is president of Urban Policy Strategies, a New Haven-based consulting firm that conducts research and assessment in public health. UPS evaluates the impact of community-based interventions in areas such as HIV/AIDS, childhood obesity, substance abuse, and cardiovascular diseases. UPS uses evidence-based approaches to enhance the capacity of African-American, Latino, and Native American community organizations to implement successful disease prevention programs. This work has served as a model for community-academic partnerships in addressing public health issues facing underserved families and children.

Ms. Moret is also an adjunct faculty member in public health at Southern Connecticut State University. Drawing on her extensive experience in the nonprofit sector, she teaches students about U.S. maternal and child health and social programs. Previously, Ms. Moret was the deputy commissioner for the Connecticut Department of Social Services, vice president for program at the Community Foundation for Greater New Haven, executive director of the Hispanic Health Council, and program director at Manpower Demonstration Research Corporation. Ms. Moret is on the boards of Women's Health Research at Yale and the New Alliance Foundation, and has served as a member of the Yale Alumni Association's Board of Governors.

Peggy Kuo '85
Being First, But Not the Last

LUNCHEON

Peggy Kuo was sworn in as United States Magistrate Judge in the Eastern District of New York in 2015. Her multi-faceted legal career includes positions as Deputy Commissioner and General Counsel of the New York City Office of Administrative Trials and Hearings (the largest municipal tribunal in the country); Chief Hearing Officer for the New York Stock Exchange; counsel with the law firm of WilmerHale, and law clerk to the Honorable Judith W. Rogers on the D.C. Court of Appeals. She also served for twelve years as a prosecutor, first as an Assistant United States Attorney in Washington, D.C., then with the U.S. Department of Justice Civil Rights Division Criminal Section, and finally at the United Nations International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia in The Hague, where she prosecuted the first international war crimes trial focused on mass rape and slavery as crimes against humanity. The trial was featured in the documentary series "Women, War and Peace": <http://www.pbs.org/video/women-war-and-peace-episode-1-i-came-to-testify/>

Judge Kuo came to the U.S. from Taiwan when she was three years old and grew up in New York City and New Jersey. She graduated from Harvard Law School in 1988, studied in Germany as an Alexander von Humboldt Foundation Federal Chancellor Fellow, and is the first lawyer in her family. <https://www.nyed.uscourts.gov/content/magistrate-judge-peggy-kuo>

David A. Thomas '78, '84 MA, '84 MPhil, '86 PhD

Lessons from an Improbable Journey

DINNER

David Thomas is the 12th President of Morehouse College. Prior, he was H. Naylor Fitzhugh Professor of Business Administration at Harvard Business School. His research addresses issues related to executive development, cultural diversity in organizations, leadership and organizational change. He served as a professor of management at Georgetown University's McDonough School of Business, where he was dean from 2011 to 2016.

During his tenure as dean, he created a culture committed to creating transformational educational experiences that prepare students to become principled and globally minded leaders poised to serve both business and society.

He joined Georgetown McDonough in 2011, following a two-decade career at Harvard Business School. While there, Thomas enhanced academic and professional opportunities for the school's undergraduate and graduate students, including a curriculum redesign and expansion of career management activities for MBA students and the addition of the Global Business Experience and an Office of Professional Development for undergraduates. He also increased the diversity of faculty and staff, launched new research initiatives and increased research funding, grew Executive Education program revenues by 400 percent, and grew the school's endowment and increased philanthropic giving, ending the school's capital campaign $30 million above its $100 million fundraising goal.

Partnering with the Washington, D.C., community while at Georgetown McDonough, Thomas was a member of the Federal City Council, and in 2014, the Washington Business Journal recognized him as a top Minority Business Leader.

Thomas received a bachelor's degree, as well as masters and doctoral degrees in Organizational Behavior, from Yale University. He also holds a master's in Organizational Psychology from Columbia University. He currently is a member of the Board of Governors for the American Red Cross, the Board of Directors of DTE Energy, and the Estoril Conferences Advisory Board. He also is an industry advisor for Brightwood Capital Advisors.

She currently coaches professors in teaching and learning.

Giving

Support Unexpected Needs for Yale Students

Would you like to support 1st generation and/or underserved Yale students today?

Consider making a gift to the newly established Yale College Dean's Student Assistance Fund.

While Yale provides undergraduate financial aid with the goal of making a Yale education affordable for everyone, unexpected needs and emergencies happen. When times are tough, this can be especially difficult for students from underserved backgrounds. Since we want to make a difference with our inaugural conference, net proceeds will be donated to support this new Fund.

We hope that you will join us and make a donation any time throughout the year. Your gift will help students purchase a winter coat or an interview suit, cover food expenses when dining halls are closed, or enable travel home for a family emergency. To support students in graduate or professional schools, please select your designated school. All sponsorship gifts can be matched by company employers.

Thank you for making an impact and helping these students make the most of their Yale experience.
